Abstract

After presenting the structure and the shareholders of the non-profit organization Munich Aerospace. V. , the activities are discussed which are systematic processing and coordination in four fields: Research, Teaching, Scholarship programme and Graduate School. The priority research topics are shown. The established Research Groups and the Research Network is presented in detail. On the internalization side, the Regional Leaders Summit and the project of a Global Aerospace Campus is introduced. Although still very young, the concept of pooling the key competencies has shown to be very successful. Nowadays Munich Aerospace together with the major industry on the Ludwig Bolkow Campus located south of Munich play an important role in Aeronautics and Space and it is growing with every day...
